

Verbal Inspiration and the Twenty-Four Hour Day

WHEREAS our Christian young people today are being swept into the vortex of an atheistic, evolutionary apostasy in our secondary schools and colleges; and

WHEREAS our splendid GARBC fellowship in these dark days needs to stand strong and clear for "the faith once delivered unto the saints"; and

WHEREAS there must be no question in anyone's mind concerning our stand for the verbally inspired Word of God, the Bible;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that on this 25th day of June, 1969, we the official messengers in session in Fort Wayne, Indiana, clearly, plainly, and unequivocally declare ourselves as believing in the verbally inspired Word of God and in the six literal twenty-four hour days of Creation as plainly set forth in the first chapter of the Book of Genesis.
